SERMONS OF THE WEEK

The Remedy.—Obedience to the law of love and brotherhood is the only remedy for our industrial evils.—Rev. H. W. Pinkham, Baptist, Denver.

Simplicity.—The soul that comes to its own must come back to the fields and villages of the simple life.—Rev. J. A. Jenkins, Congregationalist, Brooklyn.

Pleasure.—Amusement is not the chief end in life, but it can be made a means of grace to all who rightly enjoy it.—Rev. John L. Scudder, Congregationalist, Jersey City.

Probing Deeply.—You cannot judge a man solely by his acts. You must probe deeper. You must determine the spirit which actuates him and ascertain its origin.—Rev. D. Hart, Hebrew, Denver.

The Difference.—A woman who breaks the commandment is an outcast, but a man who commits the same sin, although his habits are well known, is received in the best society.—Rev. F. A. Strough, Congregationalist, Pawtucket, R. I.

Without Dogma.—When we rid the mind of dogma, creed and ritual, we find the intrinsic Christ nature. No interpretation of Christ is so good as to let Him. No dogma so grand as kind acts.—Rev. F. E. Mason, Scientist, Brooklyn.

Patriotism.—Problems are appearing that are putting new tests upon patriotism. Honesty in peace as well as valor in war is patriotism. Corruption in peace as well as treachery in war is treason.—Rev. M. Simons, Unitarian, Cleveland.

Friendship.—We are what our friends make us. The strongest of men are quick to own their indebtedness to certain potent friendships. Oft times one friend has been the pivot of another's career.—Rev. C. B. Mitchell, Methodist, Cleveland.

Overconfidence.—The world knows better than to trust a bragart or a dare devil. Overconfidence in self is a road over which many have traveled to wreck. It leads to the neglect of the ordinary precautions and safeguards.—Rev. H. S. Bradley, Methodist, Atlanta.

The Home School.—Home is the first school. There is no education like that it can give. There is no influence such as it can exert. It has its elements of authority. It carries its splendid sovereignty throughout its entire domain.—Rev. L. M. Clarke, Presbyterian, Brooklyn.

Fame.—It is not right for a Christian to look for selfish, worldly fame, neither is it right for him to look merely for fame in serving God; still, I think it is quite proper for a person to know that God awards him providing he serves God in a proper manner.—Rev. R. E. Williams, Episcopalian, Anacosta, Mont.

God's Kingdom.—The best men, with widest spiritual horizon, have never surveyed in all its extent the kingdom of God. Often the high spiritual meaning has been missed and men have said the words "Thy kingdom come" with grotesque mental pictures in their thoughts.—Rev. J. T. Bradley, Methodist, Atlanta.

Home Life.—No home can exist except by vicarious service upon the parts of fathers and mothers. There can be no real home for children who are given over to the care of servants. The very rich generally have no homes, hence the constant rattling off of society at the top.—Rev. J. H. Harris, Presbyterian, Lewisburg, Pa.

Eternity.—The way to strip for eternity is not to prepare to die, but to live; not to prepare to meet God as though He were approached from a distance but to find Him in one's soul. What we need is not freedom from the body, but freedom from that limitation of which the body is a symbol.—Rev. B. F. Mills, Independent, Los Angeles.

Marriage.—Perfect marriage is rare because perfect men and women are rare. The ideal marriage is, therefore, a long way off, but happy marriage, successful from the standpoint of the church and the state is by no means so rare as long-haired men and short-haired women would have us believe.—Rev. J. L. Levy, Hebrew, Pittsburg.

The Home.—In the home there should be more altars of prayer. Many are trampled down and need repairing. There is a wonderful power attached to the earnest prayer of a parent, and the home that has its altar for family devotion is apt to be a home of happiness, for God's blessing will rest upon that home.—Rev. L. M. Zimmerman, Lutheran, Baltimore.

Nature.—Give the old earth time enough and she will spin a web of green on every muddy quagmire, emboss the oak with tined lichen, mantle the ruined wall with ivy, cover every wreck with a veil of vines, and work and knit and weave away until the last repulsive object has been transformed into a vision of grace.—Rev. Frank Crane, Baptist, Worcester, Mass.

The Divine Nature.—Every man has a nature which finds its perfect satisfaction in life in this world but it is not his highest and best nature. For above and distinct from the natural mind there is a nature for which this world in itself makes no provision. This is the nature which lives by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God.—Rev. T. A. King, Swedenborgian, Cleveland.

Bristles.—"Say," sneered the bulldog, "you don't know much about scientific fighting, do you?"
 "Perhaps not," replied the porcupine. "If you want to try a little bout with me, however, I think I can give you a few points."—Philadelphia Ledger.

We do not believe there is such a thing as pulling a tooth without pain. "I can prove it," a pained dentist said recently. But we were afraid to risk it.

FARM AND GARDEN

The milk-fed calf needs water. This is something that should not be neglected.

There is no use talking about making a wet farm contribute its full share unless it is the drained.

The quick opening and shutting of an umbrella in the face of a runaway horse will often bring him to a stop when other means fail.

The average weight of hogs received on the markets is much less than a few years ago. The demands of the markets are undergoing a change.

Pullets and 2-year-old hens are the most profitable. After a hen is 3 years old she becomes unprofitable for an egg producer, and is rather tough for table use.

Little pigs of the same size feed better together than when large and small are mixed in pen or yard. Separate them 'tills and good results will then follow.

There is such a thing as being a country gentleman. In no other place can more real gentlemen be found. It is easy to be a gentleman if one's blood is right.

A wheat drill with a fertilizer carrier with it is a suggestion that should be talking to its owner to keep up the fertility of the soil. Winter wheat followed with clover means keeping up the fertility.

Did you ever stop to think that if all men were sharp there would be no sale for gold bricks? If all men could successfully launch some scheme there would be no biters, no schemers and no get-rich-quick schemes.

Red raspberry plants should be taken from a young, healthy bed. Plants from an old bed are vigorous and more liable to be diseased. The proper distance between the rows is seven feet for garden culture and eight feet for field culture.

Orcharding and hog breeding are now the joint order of the day among progressive fruit growers in the southwest. The two industries combine most harmoniously. Cross fences and feed patches are needed, however, to insure absolute control.

A number of small portable poultry houses are handy on a poultry plant, as they can be used to place brooders in in the early spring, and later can be utilized for growing stock, breeding hens or laying hens, and can be moved to different points on the farm.

If the farmer has growing a bearing peach, plum or other fruit tree whose name is not known it should be identified through the committee on nomenclature of the State Horticultural society in order that the owner may purchase other trees like the one now giving satisfaction.

The man who keeps his horses "scared of him" all the time is wondering why they do not come up to him when he is in the far side of the pasture trying to catch them. He is heard to say, "If I ever catch you I'll give you a sound thrashing," and that probably explains why he can't catch them.

In storing potatoes one should not bruise them, as they rot worse when they have become bruised. Many are under the impression that they can be handled like coal. Of course sometimes one feels pressed for help and time and they are handled more roughly than there is any necessity for doing.

An experiment with young pigs at the Connecticut experiment station, showed that they did much better on milk having more than 5 per cent fat than on milk having more than 5 per cent. The best results were secured with skim-milk. Many good farmers have raised fine calves on a diet almost exclusively of skim-milk.

Hog cholera is not a phantom to be brushed away with a hope that it will not reach your herd of swine. It is just a question as to whether the germ is introduced or not. When one has done all he can along precautionary lines, he will probably get caught after all, but the careful man generally comes out ahead.

Fertilizers pay better on fruits than on corn or cotton, but they should not contain too much nitrogen else wood growth is too much stimulated. Phosphate and potash are the best fruit fertilizers, but out-rotted meal, nitrate of soda or stable manure may be used if it appears that the tree, itself is not growing fast enough.

Many of the sons of toil of the present generation do not know the first principles of binding grain by hand. They came on the stage of action since the introduction of the self-binder and have never acquired the art. It is amusing to see some of the grown-up sons trying to bind an occasional bundle that happened to be thrown off a bound.

Raising tomatoes in large quantities requires large quantities of fertility in the soil. If it is possible to secure barnyard manure in large quantities, it might be spread upon the ground and turned under in the early spring, and it would supply in large part the necessary fertilizing ingredients mentioned above. Some tomato growers use guano, sprinkling about one handful in each hill before the plants are set out.

A bulletin from the department of agriculture relates the habits and life history of the scolding moth and advises spraying with paris green and Scheuch's green, one pound; lime, three pounds; 150 gallons of water. The spray kills the young worms before they enter the fruit. They get the poison while feeding on the leaves and on the stem-end and sides of the fruit.

Denmark, which breeds some of the best horses in the world, last April imported 1,100 horses from Sweden, 1,700 from Russia, besides a large number from Norway. The explanation is that so many horses have been sold to Germany that it is necessary to supply the shortage by importation, but the thrifty Danes find this a very profitable business. The Norwegian Ford horses find much favor in Denmark. They are small, but are strong and active and thrive splendidly.

Pigs Are Naturally Clean.

The pig, by nature, is one of the cleanest of animals, and in internal construction resembles the human being more closely than any other animal. What wonder, then, is it that we hear of so much disease when they are kept under such filthy conditions as we so often see? Give them clean, healthy surroundings and we shall hear very little of disease, and they will be to us the money-making machines they have proved themselves.

Men possessing minds which are morose, solemn and inflexible enjoy, in general, a greater share of dignity than happiness.—Bacon.

PUBLIC DUTY.
 Mompeller, O., Man Feels Compelled to Tell His Experience.

Joseph Wilgus, Mompeller, O., says: "I feel it my duty to tell others about Doan's Kidney Pills. Exposure and driving brought kidney trouble on me, and I suffered much from irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Sometimes there was retention and at other times passages were too frequent, especially at night. There was pain and discoloration. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief from the first, and soon infused new life. I give them my endorsement." Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Ignorance Might Have Been Bliss.
 The late Paul Laurence Dunbar used to like to joke about the higher education of women.

In one of his lectures Mr. Dunbar said: "A lady on a sultry summer afternoon called on some friends. The talk buzzed along briskly, fans waved and the daughter of the house kept twitching uncomfortably, frowning and making little smothered exclamations of annoyance. Finally, with an impatient sigh, she rose and left the room."

"Your daughter," said the visitor, "seems to be suffering from the heat."
 "No," said the hostess. "She is just back home from college, and she is suffering from the family grammar."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Passing on to the next platform, permit me to call your attention to Herr von Skyeek-Kraper, the modern Colossus, known as the Tallest Man on Earth."

Marion Anderson.
 The celebrated authoress, so highly esteemed by the women of America, says on pages 103 and 415 of her popular work, "Eve's Daughters; or, Common Sense for Maid, Wife and Mother":

"For the aching back—should it be slow in recovering its normal strength—Allen's Compound is an excellent comforter, containing the essential oils of the sustained pressure of a strong warm hand with certain tonic qualities developed in the sweating. It should be kept over the seat of uneasiness for several days—in obstinate cases, for perhaps a fortnight."

"For pain in the back wear an Allen's Compound constantly, renewing as it wears off. This is an invaluable support when the weight on the small of the back becomes heavy and the aching incessant."

It is thought that the game of whist was first played in the time of King Henry VIII. of England.

World's Finest Harbor.
 From the capital of Brazil, half the land and half the people of South America are governed. It is the chief financial and industrial city of the greatest undeveloped empire on earth. Rio Janeiro is a fast-growing town. It had just crossed the half million mark in 1890. In 1900 it reached three-quarters of a million, and today it has at least 1,000,000 more. It is bigger than any town in the United States excepting Philadelphia, Chicago or New York, and it is only 150,000 less than Buenos Ayres, which has now just 1,900,000.

To my mind Rio de Janeiro is one of the most beautiful cities of the world, writes Frank G. Carpenter. The harbor is surrounded by great mountains with their tops in the clouds. The mountains are covered with a tropical vegetation from base to summit, and they are of most curious shapes. One rises out of the sea like a sugar loaf to a height of more than twice that of the Washington monument; another is a mighty hunchback, and others are great forts and massive battlements. The harbor itself is shaped just like a pear, but it is so large that all the ships of the world could anchor there and have room to spare. It is 100 miles around it, and the water is almost everywhere over 60 feet deep. The bay is dotted with islands which appear to float, as it were, upon its diamond-studded surface.

Amended.
 "Mr. Wise is an agnostic, isn't he?"
 "Not at all. What led you to think that?"
 "Miss Passay told 'me he didn't believe the bible."
 "Ah! she means the bible in which the record of her birth is entered. He noticed that she had been tampering with the date."—Philadelphia Press.
